It was reserved for a later age to unite the saddary essences of tonic aperient and antibitious toots, barks, and plants, with an active stimulant, and thus seeme their rapid diffusion through the debilitated or disordered system. The crowning triumph of this effective mode of concentrating and applying the virtues of medicinal vegetables was achieved in the production of Rostetter's Stotoach Bitters. Never before had a perfectly pure alcoholic stin ulant been consbined with the expressed juices of the tinest specifies of the vegetable kingdom. Never yet, though eighteen years have clapsed since its introduction, has this great restorative been equalled. It is taken at all seasons, in all climes, as the most potent safegnard against epidemies, as a protection against all naheality or beget disease; as a remedy for intermittent and other unlarious fevers; as an appetiter; as a sovereign cure for dyspepsia; as a general tonic and invigorant; as a service; as a harmless amodyne; and as the ness notices, as a former of mental exertion, hardship, thankship, thankship, thankship, the defendence of the content of the particle of the content of the particle of the content of the product of the content of the product of th cumstances, such as sedentary pursuit undue hodily or mental exertion, hardship

THE INDIANS.

It is now feared here in official 10 PHYSICIANS quarters that the Indians in the Northwestern and Southern Reservation are intent on war. Several telegrams and letters from General Sheridan were received at the war Department to-day, giving a gloomy account of affairs in these reservations From these dispatches it seems that he Indians are on the war path, seven different bands fully armed and equipped, having passed over the Pacific Railroad, just below Fort Saunders, on Monday last for the ostensible purpose of going down to hunt for the elk: but neither Generals Sherman nor Sheridan believe that this is their mission. The component parts are BUCHU That are already off of their reservations, and evidently mean mis-General Sherman says that the whole Indian people seem to be in a restless condition, and that from the general information he received from all sources he has no doubt that they mean war. General Sherman states that he found a number of bands over 1,000 miles from their retervations. In a number of their villages he found large quantities of stolen property, which they had accumulated from the raids they had made. The accounts of the atrocities of the Far South Indians are confirmed, and General Sheridan, looks every day for an outbreak from the Sioux. He has distributed his force, and made all the needful preference. He has not in a restless condition, and that from the Sioux. He has distributed may force, and made all the needful prepreprations for defense. He has not force enough to take active offense. He has not force enough to take active offense. With a feeling of confidence, with a feeling of confidence, with a feeling of confidence, with a feeling of confidence. anything good from Red Cloud and his Chiefs, and say that the Red Cloud, if he is so inclined, can not control the Sions Nation, and that indeed no Indian Chief can speak for his young men, as the latter are firet, last, and always for war.

General Sherman indorses these opinions, and stated that to day he feels more concern about the state of Indian affirs than he ever did before. He is satisfied that the In dians have been deceiving the (iovernment for several menths past and that their striking a blow is not a matter of doubt with him now. But where they will strike is the open several will strike is the But where they will strike is the perplexing question. He says that Red Cloud and his band left the line of the railroad last Monday, and North and Brown Streets, Philadelphia. should be at Fort Laramie to-day where some two hundred lodges of Red Cloud's people are waiting to receive him. He has no confidence in Red Cloud, and thinks the Indian chiels are to shrewd for the Indian agents .- Washington Con. N. Y.

There can be no such thing as "dead issues:" when the fundamental principles of the Federal Constitution have been violated or shamelessly ignored, unless we pronounce that instrument itself also a "dead issue." ECUMENICAL COUNCIL.

Savannah, Georgia, in aspeech at the Ecumenical Council the other day, spoke eloquently against the dogma of infallibility, declaring that all the bishops who voted in its favor would be guilly of sacrilege. The majority met this imputation with protesting cries, and the clamor became so furious that the President Legate rang his bell and called on the speaker to retract the expression. Supported retract the expression. Supported and mental powers. by Monsignor Strossmeyer, the Bishop of Savannah refused, maintaining that he was entitled to express his conscientious opinion. He said he BUCHU is the great Dirnretic.
